DATE FOR YOUR DIARY

BRINKLEY CHRISTMAS CAROLS

You are warmly invited to Brinkley Memorial Hall on Saturday 17th December for mulled wine, mince pies and singing. This is an opportunity for villagers to get together, raise a toast and see if any of us can hold a tune.

Doors will open at 6pm with mulled wine and soft drinks available at the bar. An acoustic trio will be playing as families arrive and get themselves something to drink. Once suitably refreshed and/or inebriated we will gather at the piano to put our own spin on some festive favourites. In order to accommodate families and those with plans later on, we will aim to finish at 7.30pm.

THANK YOU..... OLIVE CLARK 1920-2016

On 30th September 2016 Brinkley lost its oldest and dearest resident when Olive Clark passed away at the age of 96 years having lived in the village since 1983. We said our final goodbyes at the funeral held in Brinkley Church on Monday 17th October.

A message from her family.....

Following Olive Clark's funeral at St Mary's Brinkley on 17th October, her whole family would like to give our sincere and grateful thanks to all of you who gave time and help for the occasion. Mum would have so appreciated the floral decorations in the church; the personal tributes and cards were of great comfort and equally the amazing effort to make Afternoon Tea possible in the Memorial Hall was much appreciated. We mustn't forget 'the chaps' either, who prepared the churchyard so beautifully.

What a lovely community Mum had the privilege of being a part of.

Thank you all.

The following article from the Principal of Linton Village College has provoked several comments. Opinions may differ.

Ed

MARSH MAIL -News from Linton Village

I wholeheartedly believe in comprehensive education, in all senses of the word. In my recent conversations with prospective parents I have made a strong point of emphasising that, at LVC, we are committed to offering a broad and balanced education, one that is comprehensive in its scope and influence.

A comprehensive curriculum goes beyond subject specifications; it teaches children wider, formative lessons. In addition to knowledge and skills, it enables them to develop relationships, tolerance and respect for those similar to, as well as different from, themselves.

Recent government proposals shine a disparaging light on comprehensive schooling. The green paper's fundamental premise is that 'schools that work for everyone' depend on selective practices. It assumes that it is possible and preferable to categorise learners aged 11 on the basis of their academic performance in a standalone test which will be advantageous for all.

I was fortunate to sit alongside our MP, Lucy Frazer, recently judging LVC's debating team. The children had been given the topic of discussing grammar schools as part of a regional debating competition. I was impressed by the quality of the arguments and rebuttals posed eloquently and, quite ironically, given the number of students that probably would not have passed the 11 plus test. The prospect of creaming off our highest performing applicants, expecting others to seek education elsewhere and promising higher educational performance as a result of this brutal academic division sickened me somewhat.

And yet the very thing that we hold dear at Linton Village College, as a fundamental facet of equitable education, is at risk of being undermined. I am proud of our comprehensive intake and of our excellent standards of education for all.

Spending vast amounts of money on converting schools or opening up new ones to serve the needs of the 'most able' seems rather frivolous, unnecessary and does not address the real challenges that need tackling in education to secure its future.

'Comprehensive' isn't just a title that replaces 'secondary modern', it represents an ethical stand point and a philosophy about the importance of a diverse and rich education. It is a concept that I hold dear and will fight to preserve and celebrate.

DO YOU WANT TO HAVE A SAY IN IMPROVING SERVICES FROM HEALTH OR SOCIAL CARE?

Cambridgeshire Alliance for Independent Living is a local independent charity that works to improve services by raising the voice of people living with all disabilities.

One of the ways we do this is by bringing people with all disabilities and carers (called Independent Members), Health and Social Care teams, and voluntary sector organisations (such as Age UK, Voice Ability, Cam Sight and the Carer's Trust) together at 'Partnership Board' meetings.

The Partnership Boards are opportunities for you to have your say about what is good about Health and Social Care services, such as home care and day centres, and what you would like to improve or where you would like to see changes. Recent activities by the Partnership Boards include raising concerns about Home Care, which are now being examined closely by the County Council, involvement in helping to develop a new Carers Strategy and involvement in the process for choosing organisations to run Carers Services.

Interested in getting involved? We are looking for new Independent Members to join our boards. We offer full training and support, out of pocket expenses and reimbursement of travel. If you think this could be you, please contact Leisha O'Brien, Development Officer at Cambridgeshire Alliance for Independent Living by phoning 0300 111 2301 or email leisha@cambridgeshirealliance.org.uk

November heralds the end of the Church's year in the preparation for Advent Sunday (which this year falls on the 27th November) but for me it is the yearly memories earlier in the month that are more poignant. We start - straight in - with All Saints' Day on the 1st. The Saints may seem to us to be distant, but if we look at the lives of certainly some of them they are the ordinary people who came from their communities, found strength and achieved much. In some churches the actual word "saint" is used to refer to all Christians. On November 2nd, following the celebration of All Saints we remember particularly those who have died (commemorating the faithful departed - or commonly "All Souls" day) particularly those known to us.

For me, though, and for many of us, those of faith or of no faith, we think of Armistice Day, and Remembrance Sunday (this year on the 13th November). We remember those who in recent history were drawn from our communities, found their strengths, their comradeships, but who lost their lives in war. Their lives, and their sacrifices, will be remembered in services this year in Dullingham, Westley Waterless and Carlton on that Sunday; I know many of you will attend and you will be welcomed into the churches. Maybe though, you just want to visit the memorials in your own time of quietness. Whichever suits you, in November we have a reminder to look back, to remember those who have come before us, and to be thankful for what they have made us.

With every good wish

Alastair France
